Mr. Roy Marsh was in charge of an NBC-TV crew at Old Faithful on August 3-5. Scenes were taken throughout the Park of famous features including an Old Faithful eruption. Van Heflin, well-known film, TV, and Broadway actor, narrated the program which documents, in part, the spectacular natural scenes of Yellowstone. This special program "Spectacular America" will be released in the spring of 1964.

Superintendent Garrison and his staff made a tour of the Park on August 6 and 7 to observe operations and discuss future planning and development.

The Chittenden Memorial Bridge, named in honor of General Hiram Martin Chittenden, was formally dedicated in a brief ceremony August 9. Mrs. Eleanor Chittenden Cress, daughter of General Chittenden, was guest of honor, and with her husband and daughter represented the Chittenden family at the ceremony. Mr. Hugh D. Galusha, Jr., a student and admirer of Chittenden's works, was the principal speaker. The Rev. John Lee, resident minister at Mammoth, gave the invocation. The ceremony was one of tribute and memorial to Hiram Martin Chittenden, who, as a major in the U. S. Corps of Engineers, supervised the construction of the first bridge spanning the Yellowstone River near the Lower Falls 60 years ago. Mr. Chittenden is the man most responsible for much of the present road system in the Park. Chittenden's other lasting contributions are his encyclopedic text on Yellowstone, still useful to the Park visitor of today, his book on the fur trade, a work which stands alone in the field of western history; and his report on water resources and flood control, which contributed to the creation of the reclamation service.
